G: You need to push it, not pull it.
B: Oh, I see.
Q: Why couldn't Simon open the door?
- 22.B: Jessie, can you tell me what Ms. Lin just wrote?
G: Sure. She just wrote down the names of the planets that go around the sun. But why? Can't you see the words?
B: I can, but not very clearly. I am wondering if there's something wrong with my eyes.
G: Tony, you really should see a doctor.
Q: What are the boy and the girl talking about?

23.M: Did anyone call for me when I was out for lunch?

W: Yes, you got phone calls from Mr. Chen and Mrs. Brown.

M: OK. Thanks. I'll get back to them later. Are there any important emails?

W: Oh, yes. A reporter who works for Taiwan Business News wishes to have an interview with you.

Q: Who are the speakers?

24.M: I think maybe we should keep a pet.

W: That's a good idea. I've always wanted to have a cat.

M: Well, a report says that dogs make the best pets. It says that people who have dogs as pets are usually happier than those who have cats.

W: I think the person who wrote that never had a cat before.

Q: What does the woman mean?

25.W: Do you know any restaurants which are pet friendly?

M: Yes, the restaurant across from the City Zoo is. But why do you ask?

W: Well, my sister is coming to visit next week, and she will bring her dog with her. I want to know where I can take her to dinner without leaving her dog in my apartment.

M: I see. I'm sure you can find some restaurants.

Q: What do we know about the woman?

26.B: How do you usually spend your free time, Jenny?

G: I like hanging out with my girl friends.

B: Where do you always hang out together?

G: Well, we like going to the gym, bookstores, and coffee shops, but mostly we hang out at one of our houses.

Q: Where does Jenny hang out with her friends most of the time?

27.M: It's freezing today. I'm very cold.

W: Put on the jacket you bought last week.

M: I feel much warmer in the jacket now. By the way, aren't you cold in just a T-shirt?

W: Well, I just came back from the gym, so my body is pretty warm now.

Q: Why does the woman feel warm?

28.M: Nancy, the Chinese characters you're practicing in the workbook look really difficult.

W: They are, and that's why I'm practicing writing them.

M: Do you know what these characters mean?

W: No, I don't. I'll probably look them up later.

Q: What may the woman need later?

29.M: Thanks, Amy. The meal you prepared for us tonight was delicious. I loved every dish on the table.

W: I'm glad you enjoyed the meal. I spent almost the whole afternoon cooking.

M: Actually, I was quite surprised that you cooked all the dishes yourself! I was wondering how you learned to cook.

W: Well, the cooking programs I always watch during my free time have been very helpful.

Q: What does the woman mean?

30.G: Being a junior high school student in Taiwan is not easy. Most students I know here are even busier than their parents.

B: You're probably right. We go to different classes almost every day. Besides, we often stay up late to study for tests and quizzes the next day.

G: I'm wondering whether I can get used to the school life here.

B: You'll be fine. After one year, I'm sure you'll have a lot to share with your friends when you go back to America.

Q: Who is the boy talking to?
