How Do Animals See the World?

Do animals see things like we do? Some animals are born with the most amazing eyes on the planet. For example, cats and horses have eyes that allow them to see the world very differently.

Cats can see things clearly with little light. They are also much better than people at seeing fast movement. That's why they can hunt fast-moving mice at night as easily as in the day. But cats are also red-green color-blind. They can only see blue, yellow, and gray. Some studies show that red and green appear yellow to them.

Horses can see almost everything around them. This is because their big round eyes are on the sides of their head. They have a visual angle of 350 degrees. When horses walk to the north, they can see everything to the east, west, and even south. Horses can even see the person riding on them. However, they cannot see things right in front of their noses and behind their tails.

The vision of every animal is special, and some can even see what people can't. With the help of science, we can better understand how different animals see the world.

- (    )1.Which is true?
(A) Blue toys appear yellow to cats.
(B) Cats cannot see the color red.
(C) It is not easy for cats to hunt at night.
(D) People can see faster movement than cats.
- (    )2.What is NOT mentioned about animals' eyes in the reading?
(A) Animals that are color-blind.
(B) The visual angles of animals.
(C) The eye movements of animals.
(D) Animals with good night vision.

📖 mention 提到

Honest Store

Have you ever heard of “the sound of honesty?” There is an “honest” store in Taichung run by Ms. Jiang. In the store, there is no clerk. Ms. Jiang waters the plants and cleans the place, and then she leaves the store. Visitors get the things they want to buy and put the money by themselves in a big urn, which is called “the honest urn.” When the coin falls down into the urn, it makes a clear sound. That’s “the sound of honesty.”

It was an old store that was going to be shut down. Ms. Jiang wanted to keep the place because people who lived there had a lot of nice memories of the store. Elder people rested there; children played and did their homework there. It was a place for all. Ms. Jiang bought the store and kept it open for everyone.

She couldn’t stay at the store all day, so she came up with the honest idea. Now there are a lot of visitors even foreigners come to shop “honesty.”

Ms. Jiang said that she never worries about people who don’t pay. The price of not paying is expensive. They will feel guilty whenever they think of it. “Once a visitor sent $20 from Taipei because he forgot to pay at the store.” Sometimes she loses money because people don’t pay, but she still believes in people. Ms. Jiang is very touched that there are always people who understand what she’s doing.

Have you ever been troubled about things in the following?

- * I can’t keep getting up early.
- * I want to learn English, but I can’t keep on being interested in it.
- * I want to lose weight, but I can’t stop eating too much.
- * I want to give up smoking, but I can’t.

Please read the book, Strongest Habit, written by a Japanese writer in 2019. He tells us how to have good habits. If you change your habits successfully, everything in life will get better whether it’s what you want to keep, or what you want to quit. Habits lead everything in your life. Here are some tips for building good habits:

1. Overeating tells yourself it’s “a mountain of fat” and lets you stop thinking of food.
2. Think of a beautiful you after you lose weight.
3. If you want to smoke or drink, think that smoking and drinking will make you on the way to get serious disease. Say “it’s disgusting” when you want to smoke or drink.
4. If you are eager to play online games, try to say, “They are only childish games.” and get away from them.
5. When you study for exams, think that studying hard will help you get good jobs because of good knowledge and be successful in the future. Then you can work hard for them.

Ancient Animals

Yesterday, I watched Jurassic Park, a popular movie in 1993, again. It is about a park full of different kinds of dinosaurs on an island. Where were those dinosaurs from? Some crazy men created them with the “cloning technology.” Cloning animals did happen in real life. A frog was successfully cloned in 1952, and over 20 kinds of animals have been cloned since then. Dolly, the sheep was the most famous one of them.

Dolly was born in 1996, and she gave birth to six lambs in total. Unfortunately, she lived only 6.5 years although a sheep can usually live around 11-12 years. She began to get sick very often because she has been taking a lot of medicine. Finally, she died in 2003. Cloning didn't appear to be very successful. However, Dolly still gave scientists hope to clone ancient animals, like mammoths, a kind of large elephant, or dinosaurs. Some scientists even try to clone humans. Are they crazy? They are trying to break the rules of nature, which may bring a lot of problems we have never thought of. Have they forgotten the fact Dolly showed us that cloned animals have shorter lives? Are we happy when we live on a planet which is full of clones? Besides, how terrible and scared we can be when dinosaurs run after us like those in Jurassic Park!
