A. In the near future, you might not see any clerk in a supermarket or a convenience store. That is to say, no one will help you put things into the shopping bag and tell you how much money you need to pay. You have to do all the things by yourself. Of course. 1., not to the clerk, but to a computer. We call this kind of store a self-service store.

Self-service stores are becoming popular. It is because hiring workers is getting much more expensive, and it is hard for stores to 2. To solve the difficult problem, many stores use more computers and hire fewer workers at the moment. Some stores even make use of robots to walk around the store to answer shoppers' questions or take shoppers to find things in the store.

Self-service stores may sound good, but some people don't think workers will be gone forever. 3. For example, clerks can show true smiles and true care to people, and they can also share their ideas and experiences with shoppers when shoppers see lots of things in front of them and have a hard time deciding what to buy. Computers and robots may be helpful, but they are not still good enough to replace people totally.

1. 【 】 (A) you can take away anything from the store.
(B) you will need to pay for the things you buy.
(C) you can walk out of the store without buying anything.
(D) you should bring your own shopping bag or basket with you.
2. 【 】 (A) find good things for shoppers (B) ask all the shoppers to use computers
(C) spend much money buying more computers (D) ask workers to keep working for long hours
3. 【 】 (A) Computers will make a lot of people lose jobs.
(B) Real-person clerks are not better than computers.
(C) There are still many things that computers cannot do.
(D) Robots and computers are too expensive for most stores.

B. When we get wet, we need a towel to get ourselves dry. When a dog gets wet, all it needs is to shake its body. A study in 2010 showed that a wet dog can throw off half the water on its body by shaking for less than a second. In fact, this common act of dogs works better than a washing machine.

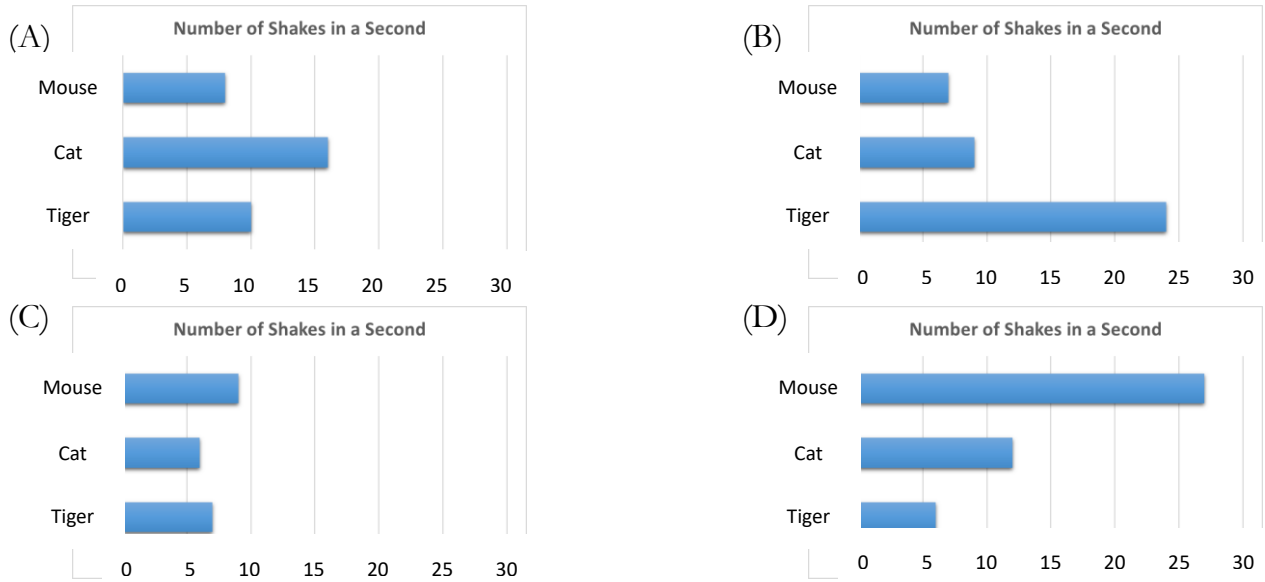

The study found that animal shaking begins with the head and ends with the tail. During a shake, the animal's head, body and skin all move. Smaller animals must shake faster than bigger animals to get water off. For example, in one second, a rat can shake 18 times, a dog 6 times, and a bear 4 times. Bigger animals can get their bodies dry with fewer shakes.

For animals, shaking is not just about getting themselves dry. It is also about saving their lives. Being wet makes animals heavier, and that makes it harder to run. In the animal world, how fast an animal can run often decides whether it will live or not. Maybe that's why the "wet-dog shake" has become a common habit of many animals.

skin 皮膚

4. 【 】 What does we learn from the reading?
(A) An animal's head and tail can help it run more quickly and easily.
(B) Larger animals get themselves drier at each shake than smaller animals.
(C) The idea of washing machines came from the shaking of dogs.
(D) Some animals shake less than they need to get water off.

5. 【 】 What does the reading say about shaking?
- (A) Different animals' shaking begins with different body parts.
- (B) Animals that are not kept in cage do the shaking better than those that are.
- (C) Shaking themselves dry may help animals run faster at dangerous moments.
- (D) Shaking is a way that animals use to make other animals scared.
6. 【 】 The bar charts (長條圖) below show how fast mice, cats and tigers can shake. According to the reading, which picture is most likely correct?

C. Dear Upstairs Neighbor,

I just moved in last month, and there’s something I need to let you know—I just cannot bear the noise that came from your place. If it’s not the piano, it’s someone running back and forth, all with the TV blaring at all hours of the night. I have to focus on my work during daytime. If I make any mistake at work, I might put people in danger. So I need to sleep well at night. Calling the police is the last thing I want to do, but I hate to say that if things aren’t getting better, I might think twice.

Sincerely,
Sleepless Downstairs

Dear Downstairs Neighbor,

We’re sorry for causing you trouble. My son is very energetic and as you know, it’s hard to ask a three-year-old boy not to run around in the house. He would also jump or hop around like a frog. How cute! And my daughter has been interested in playing the piano these days. I think it’s not a bad thing for a kid to be crazy about piano, isn’t it? As for the TV thing, I have to say sorry again. My wife and I have to wait until the kids fall asleep, so we can watch the replay of our favorite TV program at 12 a.m. After all, eight o’clock is the time when my daughter usually feels like playing the piano. We are more than happy to spare the time not to watch TV then but to listen to her play. Anyway, we’ll try to keep the noise down a little bit. With this letter, we send you a set of earplugs. Whenever you feel the noise is too loud, you can put them in.

bear 忍受 focus 集中注意 replay 重新播放 spare 空出 earplug 耳塞

Sincerely yours,
Parents Upstairs

7. 【 】 Which is true about the two letters?
- (A) The parents' favorite TV program plays at 8 p.m.
- (B) The person downstairs is a teacher and he needs to get enough sleep.
- (C) The daughter usually takes piano lessons at 8 o'clock.
- (D) The earplugs can help the person downstairs to focus on his work.
8. 【 】 What might happen after the second letter?
- (A) The person downstairs will call the police.
- (B) The son stops running around or jumping like a frog.

- (C) The parents try to watch TV at 8 instead of 12.
(D) The parents ask their daughter not to play the piano after 10 p.m.

9. 【     】 What does the word “blaring” in line 3 refer to ( 意指 ) ?
(A) playing interesting programs                      (B) turning on and off again and again
(C) making loud and uncomfortable sounds          (D) working not well

Believe you can, and you're halfway there.
